HAYES MAKES A SHORT SPEECH.

Mr. Tilden has had his growl; Messrs. Conkling and Blaine have vent to their feelings at being disappointed of the Presidency; Mr. Potter has made his little move; Judge Key has written a letter, and Alexander H. Stephens has rebuked the Democracy; Secretary Sherman has replied in kind to the Potter resolution, and now it has come Mr. Hayes' turn. When asked whether he did not think the Potter fraud might have revolutionary effects, he said something like this:

"Yes; by getting a large majority—say two-thirds—of both houses of Congress they might attempt to decline co-operation with the Executive and bring a deadlock on affairs. Suppose Congress should recognize another person as President? That would be the civil war Judge Key and Mr. Stephens referred to. I should defend my office and the independence of the Executive against any intruder. I want the people to see to what this action of Congress tends. For that reason Judge Key addressed his letter to the Southern people, that they might instruct their Congressmen so as to relieve those Congressmen from the restraint of a caucus power when their arrive at Washington. It is my desire to administer the government kindly and wisely, but there is a point at which I may say, 'Go thus far if you will, but no farther.'"

That is the point, exactly, and Mr. Potter, with his motley crew is close upon that point. This man Hayes, whom machine politicians and lovers of the caucus have delighted to abuse, is not destitute of courage, by any means. He has carried a sword in defense of the country which he now rules, and would do so. He wishes to rule kindly and wisely, "but there is a point at which I may say, 'go thus far if you will, but no farther.'" Mr. Hayes understands the language which Americans use, and he may have occasion to show the Potterites what kind of muscle defeated them in '65. If that time comes, Rutherford B. Hayes will be found a patriot in every sense, and Mr. Potter will find that Mexico and its customs are still many leagues removed from the capitol at Washington.

ANOTHER LECTURE.

It has been our duty to set before the citizens of Washoe county their obligations to the Nevada State Agricultural Society. We have done this more than once, and in order that the obligation should become greater, although the task is not pleasant to us by any means, we are encouraged by the necessities of the case to attempt it again, and we shall do so briefly:

There are very few men who will gain say the direct benefits which come to Reno through the State fair; there are many who refuse to return that which they owe to the society; there are numbers of men in this county who are able to take life memberships in the society; there are scores of men who can improve the annual exhibition by a small effort; there are still others who can give advice and aid to the Trustees in the performance of their duties; and last of all there are men who can cease growling and lend a hand in correcting whatever mistakes may have crept in during the past years. It is easy to admit all this and then sit down without action. It is easy to say that all will come out right without your aid, but that point is not settled. To-day a number of citizens who are but little interested in horse-racing went to Virginia, at their own expense, in order to show to members of the Nevada Jockey Club that Reno people took an interest in the Agricultural Society and its programme. That is the right spirit, and the one in which our citizens must meet the Trustees. A short lecture is always better than a long one—a word to the wise is sufficient. The citizens of Washoe county owe a duty to themselves in this matter. Let us put shoulder to shoulder and perform it.

In the Rhode Island Senate May 30th, on motion of a Democratic Senator, resolutions were passed by unanimous vote declaring the title of Hayes to the office of President settled by the electoral commission beyond all question, and deprecating all proceedings looking to any question of his title.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The perplexity of hen which has one more chicken than she can cover, is nothing to the anxiety with which a Democratic editor views the attitude of Hayes and the anticipated failure of the Potter inquisition. Potter is a great Democrat and that is about all you can say for him. He got up in the night to crucify Hayes, and worked diligently. But now the morning begins, to dawn and lo! he finds the Democratic party on the cross. If he fails as is expected, he may expect to play the part of Barabas.

Sam Davis of the Chronicle is in San Francisco and attended the musical festival under a guard of policemen. They were afraid that he would torture his violin. Wells Drury of the News was refused a ticket because he persisted in taking his piccolo along. He will get up a festival in Gold Hill shortly. Deacon Parkinson will work the base drum and "Localities" of this paper will sing. "The little old log cabin in the lane." Tickets half price.

THAT PROBLEM.

A friend desires us to publish the following problem: A man wishes to have 100 rods of ditch dug, at a cost of $100. He hires A for $1 25 per rod and B for 75 cents. How much must each dig to get to get $50? Hand in your solutions.—Journal.

As stated, the problem can not be solved. There is a "catch" in this problem, which the proper statement brings out: That one-half of the 100 rods is hard ground, the work of digging being worth $1 25 per rod, while the other half, being less difficult to dig, is worth only 75 cents. The problem is now quite simple, and may thus be solved: To receive $50, A must dig 40 rods at $1 25 per rod. B digs 50 rods at 75 cents per rod, for which he receives $37 50; but on the last '0 rods he must have A's wages, $1 25, which amounts to $12 50—thus making $50 for B's work. If this be not correct, I would be pleased to see the solution in the Journal columns.

STATE NEWS.

There is a movement in Tybo toward organizing a military company.

The Eureka Consolidated mine is running five furnaces now.

The percentage of gold is increasing in the Eureka mines.

The Belmont Courier complains of coyote serenades.

There are 146 prisoners in the State prison at Carson.

Dog poisoning is the fashionable amusement in Virginia city at present.

Eureka has struck a moral streak; only three prisoners in the county jail, and no criminal business before the courts.

The three Richmond furnaces average a production of thirty five tons of bullion daily, and reduce about 150 tons of ore.

The man-woman, Pollard, was taken to Rock creek yesterday for examination. The press has had much fun over this "one more unfortunate".

Prof. Frank Stewart, who had a severe attack of hemorrhage of the lungs is now much better and will soon be upon the street again.—Eureka Sentinel.

J. T. Pantland the genial proprietor of the Ormsby house, the best hotel in Carson, was caned a few days ago in Virginia city. This "walking stick" is a elegant gold headed cane. But another instance of appreciation.

From the Silver State, we learn that suit has been brought in the Fourth District Court by George Bennett, plaintiff, against the Central Pacific railroad company and Crittenden Thorton, defendants, for the sum of $50,000 damages, alleged to have been sustained by said plaintiff by the fraudulent and malicious prosecution of the defendant. Bennett was arrested, tried for burglary and sentenced to 156 days in the Humboldt county jail. It is enough to make one mad and ask for damages. Wonderful how a man values his time and character under some circumstances.

A Times Washington correspondent has interviewed Hayes, who firmly and decidedly said that no attempt to unseat him should succeed except the only lawful one of impeachment. He had received his office from Congress in a lawful and peaceful manner, and intended to hand it down to his successor in the same way. He would submit to nothing short of a successful impeachment.

The California Stock Board has declared its first dividend of $100 per seat. There are eighty seats.

That Wild Man.

The mystery of the wild man at Pyramid is thus solved by a rancher living near that lake: There are two rival fish companies at the lake and the fishing around Goat island is better than many other part of Pyramid.
Mr. Reed is at the head of one of the companies, and is carrying on quite a lively trade. One of the days on which the wild man in question was seen, Mr. Reed and his friends started to the island on a fishing cruise. It happened that on the same day a party of fishermen belonging to the other faction was encamped on the north side of the island and saw Reed and his party approaching. Here was a glorious opportunity to frighten Reed's party, and something must be done.
"Tar and feather them," said one;
"Cut their boats loose and leave them on the island," said another; "Let's scare them to death," said a big fellow.
"That is just the thing, Bill," they all exclaimed, "but how shall we do it?" A plan was soon matured that indeed proved effective. It was at once agreed that Bill, who was a stranger to Reed's party, should act the wild man. So, stripping himself to the waist, he tied a wool sack about his loins and a piece of gunny sack around the top of his head; then smearing some white mud over his face and body, his disguise was completed.
Standing more than six feet high, and built in proportion, with long, bushy hair and flowing beard, dressed as he was, Bill was well calculated to frighten any one. Everything was in readiness, so they waited until Reed and his party had landed, pitched their camp for the night and was seated around their supper table. Bill now advanced, followed by his companions.
He made a slight noise among the rocks, sufficient to draw the attention of the party. They gazed at the wildman a moment, when he stepped back a pace or two, and gave a shrill scream. This was enough, the fishing party beat a hasty retreat for their boats and pulled for the shore, as if it was a race for life.

This is in a nutshell the whole story of the wonderful wildman on Goat island, Pyramid lake.

Crazy Stories of an ex-Inmate of the Nevada Insane Asylum.

Complaint against the management of the Nevada State Insane Asylum, at Stockton, was made to us to-day by Mrs. Mary Watson. She says that Mrs. Piper, of Virginia city, was most cruelly treated, as well as herself.
Mrs. Wright, the attendant, is most cruel, says Mrs. W. She detailed a number of cases in a most vivid manner. We have been acquainted with doctors Langdon and Clark for a number of years, and we know them to be gentlemen—men who bear the best character in San Joaquin county, hence we are inclined to think that the stories of Mrs. Watson are fearfully exaggerated. However, all this matter will be inquired into by Messrs. Daggett and White, of this State. Mrs. Watson is evidently not fully rational, yet she recited several most beautiful verses to us in connection with her stories, about Solomon and the roses, death, etc., and the most incongruous stuff. We have heard similar tales by those in the California asylum whom we knew to be crazy. We therefore cannot place any reliance on any of her stories.

TO BE HONORED.—We see from the Carson Appeal that the Carson pedestrians will halt at this burg for refreshments about the 11th. On June 8th, at 3 o'clock in the morning, two attaches of the Mint will start on a pedestrian tour from Carson to Glen-brook, thence by way of the Hot Springs to Tahoe City, Truckee and Reno, returning to Carson in seventy hours. The distance is about 120 miles. We'll wager Carson has a foot race and a walking match on the 4th of July. It would add more interest than a pigeon match or a mule race.
But we must stop this or the good Deacon of the Tribune will think we mean to strike a blow at the Carson races, and immediately pronounce that the dwellers at the State capitol are fearfully enraged at us.

CHURCH NOTICES.—Missionary service at 11 a. m. to-morrow in the Congregational church. At 7:30 in the evening the pastor, Rev. A. Drahn, will lecture on the subject of "Kear-neyism," with special reference to its communist character. At the Methodist church to-morrow evening, praise service from 7:30 to 8 o'clock, after which the pastor, Rev. W. C. Gray, will deliver an address on "A Young Man Must Sow his Wild Oats."

Property in Dispute.

We see from the Gold Hill News that Mrs. Julia W. Bidleman, widow and administratrix of William E.
Bidleman, deceased, has entered an action at law against Fred N. Bidleman. The plaintiff asserts that she is the administratrix of William E.
Bidleman, who died intestate on the 23d day of April; that at the time of his death deceased was possessed of certain cows, horses and wagons, goods and chattels of the value of $3,162, the said property being in the possession of Fred N. Bidleman, who is the employee and servant of William E. Bidleman; that she, the plaintiff, on or about the 28th of May, 1878, demanded possession of said personal property, but that the plaintiff refused to deliver the same to her or any part thereof, and that he still retains the same to her damage in the sum of $5,000; wherefore plaintiff demands judgment against the defendant for the recovery of the possession of the property, or for the sum of $3,162 in case such delivery can not be made and for the further sum of $1,838 damages, and for the costs of suit. J.
B. Marshall appears as attorney for plaintiff.

SCHOOL CENSUS.—Following is the report of the Census Marshal: Boys between 6 and 18 attending school; 230; girls between 6 and 18 attending school, 250—total, 480. Children under 6 years of age, 306; between 18 and 21, 66; under 21 born in Nevada, 319; between 4 and 6 attending public school, 96; between 4 and 6 attending private school, 14. Total attending public school, 256; total attending private school, 91. Between 6 and 18 not attending school, 126; 8 and 14 attending public schools, 123; 8 and 14 attending private schools, 37; 8 and 14 not attending any school, 24.
There are no deaf, dumb nor blind in the district.

SPORTSMEN'S CLUB.—We learn that a sportsmen's club is to be formed in town. Eighteen names have thus far been obtained, and a meeting is called of all parties interested in such an organization for 1 o'clock to-morrow afternoon at the Opera House. We have a number of good shots in and around town, and a little exercise with the rifle and shotgun is splendid sport. After the members of the club have had a little practice, glass balls will be sprung from a trap, and then we shall hear of good shooting. We have in our midst the material, and trust a fine club will be organized.

ASSESSMENT.—An assessment of $1 per share has been levied on the Succor mine, delinquent July 1st. It is only a year since the previous assessment was levied. It is claimed that much work has been accomplished with the proceeds of that levy, and that it is highly probable that in the near future this mine will pay dividends.

DIED.—At 11:30 A. M. to-day Mr.
T. J. Godfrey, father of Miss Annie Godfrey and brother of Mrs. M. J.
Smith, died in Reno, of consumption.
Funeral from the residence of Mr. M.
J. Smith next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A few months ago the mother of Mrs. Smith died at an advanced age.

MONDAY NIGHT.—Theater goes will not forget the Troubadours next Monday night. This is a good troupe.
Those who attend will witness a most interesting performance. Go and enjoy a hearty laugh. Smith's Academy is the place.
